

How Skype lessons work

LearnLanguagesWithNina.com

Most people want to learn a new language, or refresh the skills they once had... But who has the time or motivation?

This is where Skype lessons come in. To learn a language, we need to be motivated and to be held accountable (part of the motivation piece!) We also need to have someone to practice with.

1. We will work together to determine your level, wants and needs.
2. I will give you work to do on your own. Much of learning a language can be done on your own!
3. We will "meet" periodically (once a week typically) to put into practice the grammar and vocabulary you are learning and to trouble shoot any difficulties you are having.
4. Or, at a higher level, we will meet to discuss the chapters and questions of the book you are reading.

This method keeps the costs down for you, as you are teaching yourself to a certain degree, but you will have the practice you need to put it all together in an authentic communicative way through the Skype meetings. If you have a Skype meeting scheduled, you will be motivated to do the work!
